ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Saint Louis University is a Catholic, Jesuit institution that values academic excellence, life-changing research, compassionate health care, and a strong commitment to faith and service.

Founded in 1818, the University fosters the intellectual and character development of more than 13,000 students on campuses in St. Louis, Missouri, and Madrid, Spain. Building on a legacy of nearly 200 years, Saint Louis University continues to move forward with an unwavering commitment to a higher purpose, a greater good.

MISSION OF GRADUATE EDUCATION

The mission of Graduate Education at Saint Louis University is to define and support excellence through teaching, research, scholarship and community service. Through the discovery of new knowledge, graduate students are prepared as leaders who will use, integrate and disseminate this knowledge to transform society in ways consistent with the values, ethics and intellectual ideals of a Catholic, Jesuit university. You will leave Saint Louis University not only with a degree, but with a deeper appreciation of the impact your degree can have on your life and that of others.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT

Faithful to its values of promoting social justice and the dignity of all human beings, Saint Louis University is committed to fostering an inclusive environment that welcomes and celebrates all expressions of diversity and identity that advance the Jesuit mission of forming men and women for and with others. This commitment inspires and prepares students, faculty and staff to create communities unburdened by discrimination and oppression.

RECOGNITION

The 2015 U.S. News & World Report ranked SLU among the "Best Graduate Schools" in the country.

SLU’s health law program was ranked second in the nation by health law scholars.

SLU also ranked in the top 25 schools nationally for programs in health care management (No. 9), supply chain management (No. 13), entrepreneurship (No. 14), international business (No. 16), geriatrics (No. 16) and physician assistant (No. 25).

SLU is on the 2014 G.I. Jobs "Military Friendly Schools" list which honors the top 20 percent of colleges, universities and trade schools that are doing the most to embrace America’s veterans as students.

EDUCATING LEADERS

Graduate education at Saint Louis University will prepare you to become a leader and to use your advanced knowledge to transform society, while making ethical decisions based upon Jesuit values.

We offer more than 70 programs in dozens of disciplines and the opportunity to be a part of nationally known research on a vibrant urban campus.

GRADUATE SCHOOL FACTS

During the past decade, the number of master’s degrees awarded in the United States annually has increased by 45 percent.

Between 2008 and 2013, the number of occupations that require a master’s degree will increase by 18 percent.

More than $53 million in financial aid was awarded to SLU graduate students in 2013-2014, 27 percent of which was awarded in the form of scholarships, grant or assistantship/shadowship.

Saint Louis University awarded more than $11.6 million in scholarship/grant awards to graduate students in 2013-2014.
STUDENT RESOURCES
We understand that committing to a graduate education is an important decision and a significant investment of time, energy and financial resources. We strive to support our students through mentoring, research resources and events, as well as guide them through the process of securing financial assistance.

ASSISTANTSHIPS
Saint Louis University offers three categories of graduate assistantships: teaching, research and general. Typically assistants work less than 20 hours per week and are awarded stipends, tuition scholarships, health insurance and extended library privileges. Check with your department for specifics.

A teaching assistant may serve as the primary instructor of a course, monitor exams, grade papers or help prepare lectures. Research assistants collaborate with faculty on funded research projects, assisting with research, field work and preparation of proposals and grants. General assistants may perform other duties such as clinical or administrative tasks related to their educational and career objectives. Contact your department for information on how to apply for an assistantship.

FELLOWSHIPS
Fellowships are awarded to graduate students who demonstrate outstanding scholastic achievement. Saint Louis University offers three types: Diversity Fellowship, Presidential Fellowship and Dissertation Fellowship. These are awarded for a maximum of two years to a master’s student and for four years to a doctoral student, and include tuition, monthly stipends and health insurance. Each program may nominate one candidate for the Diversity Fellowship and one candidate for the Presidential Fellowship. Dissertation Fellowships are competitively awarded to doctoral candidates whose dissertations will significantly extend the body of knowledge within their disciplines. Students interested in being nominated for a fellowship should contact their department of interest.

FINANCIAL SERVICES
The Office of Student Financial Services advises all SLU students seeking financial support beyond assistantships or fellowships. All students who seek additional funding should complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). In addition to assistantships and fellowships offered by the University, there are several other options for students to pursue financial assistance.

INTERNATIONAL SERVICES
The Office of International Services helps international students transition to the United States and supports them during their stay. The International Services staff advises students on academics, American culture and immigration laws, and hosts activities and workshops on these topics. International Services also offers an international student lounge, located in the Center for Global Citizenship.

GRADUATE STUDENT ASSOCIATION
The Graduate Student Association (GSA) at SLU is an interdisciplinary organization committed to advocating for the graduate community, supporting students’ professional development and serving as a social network for all graduate students. GSA assists graduate students with partial travel funding to annual academic conferences and hosts the annual Graduate Research Symposium, where SLU graduate students can present their cutting-edge research and compete for various awards.

RENOVED FACULTY
Ninety-eight percent of tenured and tenure-track SLU faculty members hold the highest degree in their fields. SLU boasts 46 endowed chairs and 24 named professorships, and is one of seven Catholic institutions designated as a research university by the Carnegie Foundation.

During 2013-2014, SLU’s Medical Center’s researchers in health sciences received 284 awards for $32.9 million from agencies such as the National Institutes of Health, National Science Foundation, Centers for Disease Control and other government sources, as well as private industries, associations and foundations. SLU researchers in areas outside of health sciences received 52 awards through grants, contracts and subcontracts from federal government agencies, associations, foundations and private sources, generating $6.7 million during 2013-2014.

OUR DYNAMIC CITY

World-famous cultural gems, an active and diverse population, and a vast array of internship and other professional opportunities — St. Louis has all this and more, packed into a large city that ranks as one of the most affordable places to live in the U.S., according to a 2014 survey by Forbes Magazine.

HOUSING

Some housing options for graduate students are offered through SLU. However, most students seek off-campus housing in one of many vibrant St. Louis neighborhoods. A multitude of options are located within walking distance. Below are snapshots of some neighborhoods near SLU’s campus.

CENTRAL WEST END

Saint Louis University is located in the Arts District of Midtown St. Louis, in an area known as Grand Center. The neighborhood is home to more than 30 arts organizations, eight performance venues, a dozen museums and galleries, five public media organizations, multiple schools and churches, and many restaurants and shops. SLU’s very own Chaifetz Arena adds to the bustle of Midtown as it draws in thousands of people year-round for concerts, performances, games, expos, graduations and other events.

DOWNTOWN

Downtown St. Louis is home to a myriad of restaurants and nightlife, performance and art venues, major corporations, professional sports venues, and historical landmarks, including the Gateway Arch and St. Louis Union Station. All of these offerings make the area an exciting place to live, work and explore.

DISTANCE FROM SLU: 2.5 MILES

SOUTH GRAND

South Grand is known for its international diversity, offering a variety of foods and cultures in a concentrated area. Nearby Tower Grove Park is home to several cultural festivals each year and is a beautiful spot for enjoying the outdoors. The Missouri Botanical Garden is another destination in the neighborhood.

DISTANCE FROM SLU: 2.5 MILES

THE HILL

The Hill wears its Italian heritage proudly on its sleeve. Known around St. Louis for its rich offering of Italian dining, the area is also a tight-knit, residential neighborhood just minutes from Forest Park and the Missouri Botanical Garden.

DISTANCE FROM SLU: 3.5 MILES

SUCCESSFUL GRADUATES

Every year, dozens of companies from a wide range of fields recruit students on SLU’s campus. Recent graduates can be found working at many prestigious institutions, putting their education to good use. These include:
