Scholarly Publications
The development of the Cura program was informed by a large body of empirical findings, contemporary theories and scholarly reviews on topics including belongingness, civility, respect, trust, and relationships in the workplace. We have included a sample of some of these publications below if you are interested in learning more about these topics.

Van Quaquebeke, N., & Eckloff, T. (2010). Defining respectful leadership: What it is, how it can be measured, and another glimpse at what it is related to. Journal of Business Ethics, 91, 343-358.
