Co-Sponsored by: the Saint Louis University North St. Louis Initiative, the Center for Community Service and Engagement, and Mission and Ministry

For over two years a group of dedicated faculty have come together to discuss and brainstorm ways in which the SLU community can have a very real impact on the health and well-being of the north St. Louis communities. An outcome of this work is the Making a Difference in North St. Louis Symposium as a way to highlight some of the work that faculty, staff and students are doing with North St. Louis partners.

The purposes of the symposium are to:

- Highlight projects, service, or research conducted in North St. Louis through poster presentations
- Highlight existing projects, service or research conducted by community partners, allowing for greater networking with other community members and SLU faculty, students and staff
- Encourage collaboration among faculty, students, staff, and community members on current or future projects, service, and research in North St. Louis
- Introduce our current community partners to the university family and vice versa and the work that is being done with North St. Louis in order to increase and strengthen partnerships with the community.

The symposium is free and open to all university faculty, staff and students and to existing and potential community partners.

Refreshments will be served.
