Bridge Program for Applied Analytics
Master's Degree

The accelerated bachelor's to master's program in Applied Analytics (BS/MS) is designed for working professionals wishing to pursue a bachelor's degree in Computer Information Systems and professional Master's degree while maintaining part- or full-time employment. With courses offered in online and blended formats in an accelerated 8-week term, this bridge program makes advanced education more accessible for working professionals.

As part of their undergraduate studies, Computer Information System majors at SPS can take up to four courses that can be applied toward both the bachelor's and master's programs.

Students can take two classes (6 credit hours at the undergraduate level) that will count toward completion of both the undergraduate degree and the M.S. degree, pending acceptance into the program. In addition, students may request permission to take up to two of the graduate-level Applied Analytics courses as part of their undergraduate education (this applies to students in any online program at SPS as well).

Once completed, up to 12 credit hours will be applied to the 36-credit-hour professional master's degree in Applied Analytics, leaving only 24 credit hours to completion and saving students time and money.

M.S. IN APPLIED ANALYTICS

Information technology (IT) has revolutionized society and created industries that are vital to the world's economy, stability and to human life. As a result of this growth and development, organizations are now presented with new opportunities and avenues for using IT to achieve their strategic objectives. The master's degree in applied analytics capitalizes upon these new opportunities and provides professionals with an education relevant to advancing their career. Applied analytics combines the interaction of technology with the human and organizational structures to support knowledge discovery, management and dissemination.
