2010 Professional Practice Institute Course Description

Persons with serious psychiatric conditions often require a range of stage-specific, integrated treatment approaches designed to address complex and multidimensional needs. This Professional Practice Institute will provide practitioners and students with the basic knowledge and skills of three contemporary brief interventions designed for people with co-occurring psychiatric, substance use and medical issues. The first module will focus on the principles and practices of Motivational Interviewing and its role in building motivation for change. The second module will focus on the concepts and skills of Brief Cognitive Behavioral Therapy and its role in assisting people who have co-occurring conditions in developing appropriate, stage-specific coping skills in order to achieve and maintain therapeutic goals. The third module will focus on the exploration, understanding and critical analysis of the theoretical background and beginning phases of Dialectical Behavioral Therapy as it relates to individuals, groups and treatment teams. The Institute will rely on the use of clinical vignettes depicting people experiencing co-occurring psychiatric, substance use and medical issues at various stages of change and how the principles, techniques and goals of each intervention can be integrated to address the complex needs of this population.
