Latin Verbs: The First Conjugation, All Persons

Every such line as this

\[
\begin{array}{lll}
x & \text{loves} & \text{amat} & \text{x is loved} & \text{amâtur} \end{array}

represents only one of six possible options for that mood and tense:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I love</th>
<th>amor</th>
<th>I am loved</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>you love</td>
<td>amor</td>
<td>you are loved</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>x loves</td>
<td>amat</td>
<td>x is loved</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>we love</td>
<td>amâtur</td>
<td>we are loved</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>you (pl) love</td>
<td>amâtur</td>
<td>you (pl) are loved</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>they love</td>
<td>amâtur</td>
<td>they are loved</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

There are three persons possible and two "numbers" (singular / plural). The main difference from what you have learned is that instead of the final -\(t\) (representing he / she / it), you will have to be able to insert the proper active or passive personal ending. (Review the handout on personal endings.) Study the changes that the typical verb will take in each mood and tense, and practice writing out the paradigm with other verbs from this conjugation. In bold are certain forms that show slight differences from what you might expect.

In the perfects we see in the active the special personal endings that only appear here, although all but two have easily recognizable endings: -\(î\), -\(istî\), -\(it\), -\(imus\), -\(istis\), -\(érunt\).

Notice that the perfect subjunctive active looks very much like the future perfect indicative active, except for three long -î-sounds and the first person singular in -erim instead of -erîō.

4176. I was throwing 4177. let me be praised 4178. x would wash
4179. you would have been freed 4180. x was refusing 4181. you will be condemned 4182. you would wash
4183. you (pl) should beg 4184. they were equipping 4185. I was overcoming 4186. you would await 4187. they would have judged 4188. we had trained 4189. [I ask what] we have dedicated 4190. you have condemned 4191. you would avoid 4192. you (pl) had been judged 4193. [I ask what] you have asked 4194. let x be condemned 4195. you (pl) will avoid 4196. you are announced
4197. let us be killed
4198. you (pl) will have praised 4199. [I ask whether] x has been wounded
4200. [I ask whether] x has been approved 4201. [I ask what] you have condemned 4202. I had been washed 4203. they had been thrown 4204. they await 4205. you (pl) will be announced
4206. I would be assaulted 4207. you (pl) would have awaited 4208. x has been equipped 4209. you (pl) would have been freed 4210. [I ask whether] you have been helped 4211. x has been called 4212. we will have been assaulted 4213. x is announced
4214. [I ask what] I have freed
4215. you will have been longed for 4216. we prepare 4217. you will have been equipped 4218. x would have been praised 4219. they save 4220. you (pl) were judging 4221. they were wounding 4222. you (pl) were strengthening 4223. we had been invited 4224. they will have shown 4225. they have named 4226. [I ask what] x has awaited

4272. we have shown 4273. we would have trained 4274. let me assault 4275. I would have been strengthened we are lifted
I have judged
you (pl) would have called x would have assaulted they will be trained you (pl) had been condemned we will be washed they dedicate you had longed for we were equipping we assault we were longing for you (pl) had been condemned
they will be trained
you (pl) would have called
I have judged
we are lifted we were approving we would have been named let us be shown they will condemn you (pl) will kill they were condemning they had been carried x is explained you (pl) should carry you should be invited let us be overcome
they had approved
we had changed
I would free let us blame
let us be awaited you (pl) are asked you have been blamed
