

ANNOUNCEMENT OF GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

The Department of Nutrition and Dietetics at Saint Louis University offers a Master of Science degree with concentrations in Medical Dietetics, Nutrition and Physical Performance, Culinary Entrepreneurship, and a joint MS/MPH specialization for individuals with backgrounds in nutrition, culinary arts, exercise science, or other health sciences. The Department is pleased to announce openings for graduate assistants for the 2019-2020 academic year.

- Qualifications: Applicants must have successfully applied and been accepted as a classified degree-seeking (fully admitted) student into the Master of Science in Nutrition and Dietetics program. Preference is given to applicants with the R.D. credential, licensure, and experience. A minimum of a 3.00 grade point average is required.
- Responsibilities: Graduate assistants are expected to provide 20 hours of work per week from a combination of two or more of the following, clinical/instructional duties, research, and food service in the Department. GAs are required to register for nine (9) credit hours of graduate course work each semester of an award.
- Compensation: Stipend plus tuition scholarship for 18 credit hours (9 hours fall / 9 hours spring; or 6 hours summer, 6 hours fall, 6 hours spring), and health insurance.
- Interested Candidates May Apply to: Ivis T. Forrester, PhD, MPH, RDN, CSP
Saint Louis University
Department of Nutrition and Dietetics
3437 Caroline Street, #3076
St. Louis, Missouri 63104
Call (314) 977-8660 or email, ivis.forrester@health.slu.edu
- Application Deadline: Friday, March 1, 2019 or until all positions are filled
- Please include a letter of application outlining your career objectives and how the graduate assistantship will complement them, your vita, and three letters of reference