PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Art history is a program of study in the humanities that teaches the essential skills of critical analysis, research, and communication through the examination of the social contexts in which art was historically – and continues to be – created.

The art history program at SLU-Madrid prepares students for demanding jobs in academia and the arts as well as other fields that require understanding of our visually based culture and the ability to express intelligent, well-researched opinions. Career options include the art market, journalism and advertising, picture research, art licensing, art tourism, arts administration, teaching, and work in museums or galleries. Recommended combinations with other majors and minors available at the Madrid Campus: Ibero-American studies, communication, history, international business and political science.

Located in one of the top art capitals of Europe, the program offers the opportunity to intern at a museum or gallery in Madrid.

In keeping with the Jesuit tradition of promoting the development of the whole person, the art history major requirements include the Arts and Sciences Core Curriculum. The Core provides a framework for acquiring a broad foundation of knowledge in the humanities, natural sciences and social sciences.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY MADRID

ART HISTORY

WHY CHOOSE THIS PROGRAM?

The academic and personal advantages of studying art in Madrid are numerous. Situated in the heart of Spain, Madrid offers a unique opportunity to explore the cultural and artistic richness of the Iberian Peninsula. Home to some of the most important art collections in Europe, Madrid's museums provide an excellent resource for the study of Western and non-Western art. Most of our classes are complemented by visits to these collections, and with study trips to nearby cities. We offer courses on periods such as the Renaissance and Baroque as well as courses on Latin-American Modern Art and Islamic Art.

Our partnership with the St. Louis campus is strong, and both campuses now deliver courses via video technology to students at the other campus in real time.

At SLU-Madrid, the art history faculty offers expertise in a broad chronological and geographical field of study ranging from Ancient Greece to modern and contemporary art in Europe and the Americas.
