+ College of Arts and Sciences

Saint Louis University is a Catholic, Jesuit institution that values academic excellence, life-changing research, compassionate health care, and a strong commitment to faith and service.

Founded in 1818, the University fosters the intellectual and character development of nearly 14,000 students on two campuses in St. Louis, Missouri, and Madrid, Spain. Building on a legacy of nearly 200 years, Saint Louis University continues to move forward with an unwavering commitment to a higher purpose, a greater good.

OVERVIEW

Saint Louis University's graduate program in Spanish offers a holistic and diversified approach to the study of Spanish language, Hispanic culture and literature, giving students a solid, up-to-date background in Hispanic studies and broadening their perspective within specific areas of interest. Course offerings include Peninsular and Latin American literature and culture, Afro-Hispanic literature, film, art, women writers, linguistics and teaching methodologies.

The program is suited to those planning or already engaged in professional careers such as teaching or international affairs and provides excellent preparation for doctoral studies.

Degree requirements include 30 credit hours of coursework, a final written examination and a final oral examination. Courses are offered year-round at Saint Louis University's campuses in St. Louis, Missouri, and Madrid, Spain. Students may fulfill all or part of the program requirements on either campus.

Saint Louis University's Madrid campus, the first fully accredited U.S. university recognized by Spanish higher education authorities, has been educating students for more than 40 years. It is guided by the same Jesuit ideals and traditions as the St. Louis campus.
