Payment of Tuition and Fees

Payment of tuition, fees and deposits (not covered by financial aid awards) must be made by the published payment dates. Each student who has registered for classes has a University student account in the Office of the Bursar. Payments on your account made by mail must be directed to the following address:

Saint Louis University
P.O. Box 790165
St. Louis, MO 63179.

Payments may be made in person at the Office of the Bursar on a business day we are open. If we receive a payment in person or by mail before 2:00 p.m. central time, we will consider that day to be the day of your payment.

If we receive a payment in person or by mail on a day we are not open or after 2:00 p.m. central time, we will consider that the payment is received on the next business day we are open. After registering, students must make financial arrangements in order to secure their enrollment.

First Week of Classes 100%

Saint Louis University's Scholarship programs, for new and currently enrolled students, are made possible through resources funded by Saint Louis University, individuals, corporations, foundations, and alumni. The University's scholarships are awarded to students who demonstrate outstanding academic credentials and personal attributes, or possess unique characteristics and talents that are central to the value of a Catholic, Jesuit education, and will provide a richly diverse dimension to the Saint Louis University educational experience and complement academic programs. Students apply for their scholarship programs via the Office of Undergraduate Admission. Academic merit is assessed by standardized test scores, prior academic credentials, and personal student attributes. Unusual, characteristic, and talent awards are determined by reference to school activities, prior talent awards, and other miscellaneous eligibility factors. University Scholarship programs generally are renewable based on a student's full-time, undergraduate, day school enrollment, sufficient academic standing per scholarship, and departmental program coordinator approval. Specific academic renewal criteria for each scholarship are established in the initial SLU admission year.

Saint Louis University Scholarship/Award Policies and Programs

Scholarship/Financial Aid policies:
- To be considered for Saint Louis University scholarships, new students must be admitted to the University and also must meet the designated scholarship program criteria.
- Priority will be given to all applications completed and received by December 1, unless otherwise stated. After December 1, applications for all programs will be accepted and scholarship consideration will be determined by reference to school activities, prior talent awards, and other miscellaneous eligibility factors. University Scholarship programs generally are renewable based on a student's full-time, undergraduate, day school enrollment, sufficient academic standing per scholarship, and departmental program coordinator approval. Specific academic renewal criteria for each scholarship are established in the initial SLU admission year.

Student Financial Responsibility

No student is officially registered until payment or satisfactory arrangement for payment has been made. All indebtedness to the University must be cleared promptly. Student account balances that are past due result in electronic "holds" that block future registrations and denial of the issuance of official transcripts.

Nonrefund or reduction is allowed for absences.

Refunds

Students are responsible for formal withdrawals from individual courses or other registrations. See "Withdrawing From a Course, Term Work, or the University" for regulations governing withdrawal fees.

Fees are not refunded in the case of withdrawal for any reason. Residence Hall charges will be refunded in accordance with the residence contract.

If a student and/or the student’s parent is receiving the Federal financial aid, the student must be admitted to the University and also must meet the designated scholarship program criteria.

To be considered for Saint Louis University scholarships, new students must be admitted to the University and also must meet the designated scholarship program criteria.

All Saint Louis University scholarship programs are highly competitive. Though University scholarship funds are significant, there are not sufficient funds to award a scholarship to all qualified students. Therefore, University Scholarships and federal campus-based financial assistance are awarded to qualified applicants on a first-come, first-served basis. Early Admission is necessary, and timely FAFSA filing before March 1 is strongly encouraged to assure award consideration.

NOTE: All programs, policies, and procedures described are subject to change. Contact the Office of Scholarship/Financial Aid for current information. All statements in this Bulletin containing junior and senior class standing requirements, prorated days and extra-curricular activities, conditions, or other matters are for informational purposes only and are subject to change without notice. They are to be regarded as offers to contract.

Saint Louis University Undergraduate Scholarship Programs

The refund schedule for the summer sessions is published in the Summer Session Schedule of Classes.

Transportation

Students are responsible for transportation expenses incurred while traveling to and from clinical, practicum and/or field work assignments.

Nursing students should have car for transportation during senior Community Health Nursing field experience.

Student Health Insurance

Saint Louis University requires all full-time undergraduate students to have basic health insurance. Unless students waive the plan, they are automatically enrolled in a comprehensive medical plan sponsored by the University for the nine month fall and spring terms for which the students are registered. Students may waive the plan by providing evidence of other insurance coverage in effect. The insurance premium for single coverage is $367 per semester for the 2003-2004 year.

Tuition and Fees

Students have the option of paying all charges in full or participating in one of the following payment plans.

TMS Annual Payment Plans

Two annual interest-free monthly payment plans are available through Tuition Management Systems (TMS) with a full range of payment methods. Advance enrollment is necessary with an annual enrollment fee. The first payment for the fall semester is due May 1 or July 1, respectively, with subsequent payments due the first of every month. You may contact TMS at www.tmsfirst.com or toll free at 1 (800) 722-4867.

SLU Budget Plan

Fall and Spring Semesters

A minimum of 25% of the total tuition, fees and room/board charges is due prior to the start of classes on the published payment due date in August and January. The balance (including a finance charge of 1% per month on the unpaid balance) is payable in equal installments on October 1, November 1, and December 1 in the fall, and on March 1, April 1, and May 1 in the spring.

Summer Sessions

Arrangements for summer sessions other than institutes should be made prior to the published payment due date. The required down payment is 50% of total charges. Payment of the balance, plus a service charge, is due on the published deadline.

Employer Billing

Students sponsored by their employer, their embassy or other party without contingency may use the third party billing options. A Letter of Authorization must be submitted to the Student Accounts department, and the third party sponsor will be billed directly for the authorized amount. Students participating in the third party billing option are responsible for unauthorized charges and must make financial arrangements to confirm their enrollment.

Saint Louis University is committed to educational excellence in the Jesuit tradition and to student service. Saint Louis University’s Office of Student Financial Services strives to help all qualified students afford the University’s tradition of excellence by offering a wealth of student financial assistance programs from the University and/or other resources. These financial assistance programs are generally awarded based on need or merit, and are intended to assist with recruitment and retention of students, and the advancement of the University’s goal of providing an affordable, high-quality, academically challenging, faith-based and diverse educational environment and experience. These financial assistance programs recognize academic excellence, as well as character traits such as leadership, community service, and individual and group talents and are available to all eligible students. Through University, federal, state and private agency programs, an eligible student may receive one or more types of financial assistance to make Saint Louis University affordable. There are four types of financial assistance programs available to Saint Louis University students: scholarships, grants, loans, and part-time employment. These programs are awarded individually or in combination, depending on the student’s academic credentials, unique characteristics and talents, and/or other personal attributes.
