SLU Budget Plan

Fall and Spring Semesters

A minimum of 25% of the total tuition, fees and room/board charges is due prior to the start of classes on the published payment due date in August and January. The balance (including a finance charge of 1% per month on the unpaid balance) is payable in equal installments on October 1, November 1, and December 1 in the fall, and on March 1, April 1, and May 1 in the spring.

Summer Sessions

Arrangements for summer sessions other than institutes should be made prior to the published payment due date. The required down payment is 50% of total charges. Payment of the balance, plus a service charge, is due on the published deadline.

Employer Billing

Students sponsored by their employer, their embassy or other party without contingency may use the third party billing option. A Letter of Authorization must be submitted to the Student Accounts department, and the third party sponsor will be billed directly for the authorized amount. Students participating in the third party billing option are responsible for unauthorized charges and must make financial arrangements to confirm their enrollment.

Student Financial Responsibility

No student is officially registered until payment or satisfactory arrangement for payment has been made. All indebtedness to the University must be cleared promptly. Student account balances that are past due result in electronic "holds" that block future registrations and deny the issuance of official transcripts.

No refund or reduction is allowed for absences.

Refunds

Students are responsible for formal withdrawals from individual courses or other registrations. See "Withdrawing from a Course, Term Work, or the University" for regulations governing withdrawal Fees are not refunded in the case of withdrawal for any reason. Residence Hall charges will be refunded in accordance with the residence contract.

If a student and/or the student's parent is receiving the Federal financial aid for the term of enrollment, a pro-rata refund schedule applies. Consult the Office of Scholarship and Financial Aid for information.

Second Week of Classes	100%
Third Week of Classes	90%

Nursing students should have a car for transportation during senior Community Health Nursing field experience.

Student Health Insurance

Saint Louis University requires all full-time undergraduate students to have basic health insurance. Unless students waive the plan, they are automatically included in a comprehensive medical plan sponsored by the University for the nine month fall and spring terms for which the students are registered. Students may waive the plan by providing evidence of other insurance coverage in effect. The insurance premium for single coverage is TBD per semester for the 2003-2004 year.

UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP &

FINANCIAL AID

PROGRAMS

WWW.SLU.EDU/SERVICES/FIN_AID

Saint Louis University is committed to educational excellence in the Jesuit tradition and to student service. Saint Louis University's Office of Student Financial Services strives to help all qualified students afford the University's tradition of excellence by offering a wealth of student financial assistance programs from the University and/or other resources. These financial assistance programs are generally awarded based on need or merit, and are intended to assist with recruitment and retention of students, and the advancement of the University's goal of providing an affordable, high-quality, academically challenging, valued-based and diverse educational environment and experience. These financial assistance programs recognize academic excellence, as well as the values of a Catholic, Jesuit education, and are available to all eligible students. Through University, federal, state, and private agency programs, an eligible student may receive one or more types of financial assistance to make Saint Louis University affordable. There are four types of financial assistance programs available to Saint Louis University students: scholarships, grants, loans, and part-time employment. These programs are awarded individually or in combination, depending on the student's academic credentials, unique characteristics and talents, and/or other personal attributes.

All Saint Louis University scholarship programs are highly competitive. Though University scholarship funds are significant, there are not sufficient funds to award a scholarship to all qualified students. Therefore, University Scholarships and federal campus-based financial assistance are awarded to qualified applicants on a first-come, first-served basis. Early Admission is necessary, and timely FAFSA filing before March 1 is strongly encouraged to assure award consideration.

NOTE: All programs, policies, and procedures described are subject to change. Contact the Office of Scholarship/Financial Aid for current information. All statements in this publication concerning requirements, prerequisites and extra-curricular activities, conditions or other matters are for informational purposes only and are subject to change without notice. They are not to be regarded as offers to contract.

Saint Louis University Undergraduate Scholarship Programs

Saint Louis University's Scholarship programs, for new and currently enrolled students, are made possible through resources funded by Saint Louis University, individuals, corporations, foundations and alumni. The University's scholarships are awarded to students who demonstrate outstanding academic credentials and personal attributes, or possess unique characteristics and talents that are central to the values of a Catholic, Jesuit education, and will provide a richly diverse dimension to the Saint Louis University educational experience and community. First-time University students apply for these scholarship programs via the Office of Undergraduate Admission. Academic merit is assessed by standardized test scores, prior academic credentials, and personal student attributes. Unique characteristic and talent awards are determined by reference to school activities, prior talent awards/achievements, and other miscellaneous eligibility factors. University Scholarship programs generally are renewable based on a student's full-time, undergraduate, day school enrollment, sufficient academic standing per scholarship, and departmental/program coordinator approval. Specific academic renewal criteria for each scholarship are established in the initial SLU admission year.

Saint Louis University Scholarship/Award Policies and Programs

Scholarship/Financial Aid policies:

- To be considered for Saint Louis University scholarships, new students must be admitted to the University and also must meet the designated scholarship program criteria.
- Priority will be given to all applications completed and received by December 1, unless otherwise stated. After December 1, applications for all programs will be accepted and scholarship eligibility will be awarded based on availability of funds (except for the physical therapy program which has a December 1 admission deadline).
- All merit-based scholarships are awarded pursuant to a competitive review process that considers many aspects of the whole student. Academic assessment for purposes of first-time freshman, merit-based scholarships includes the best composite standardized test score (ACT/SAT - through the last December test date), and the first six semesters of a student's high school academic record. Academic assessment for purposes of new transfer merit-based scholarships includes prior college course work attempted and earned at other institutions.
- All merit-based scholarships are renewable contingent on a student's continuous, full-time, undergraduate, day school enrollment, scholarship program approval and maintenance of renewal criteria for a designated number of semesters or until a first baccalaureate degree is earned, whichever occurs first. Scholarships may only be used in the fall and spring semesters.
- The Presidential, Xavier, Deans', University, Martin Luther Kind, Ignatian, Billiken and any other University-funded merit scholarships cannot be combined, but each may be added to the Saint Louis University Grant and NCAA Athletic-Grant-in-Aid program provided that total Saint Louis University does not exceed the annual billed cost of tuition.

- Certain federal, state or private scholarships are “matched” or supplemented by Saint Louis University funds. This match or supplement is made up of all Saint Louis University funded programs awarded to the student (i.e. SLU Grant, merit scholarship, benefit, etc.). The match guarantees that the student’s University funds, at minimum, will equal the value of the promised match.

- Students eligible for any of the University’s Employee Tuition Remission Benefit Programs (Spouse/Children, Faculty/Staff, FACHEX, Tuition Exchange, Tenet, etc.) may only be considered for honorary, non-monetary Saint Louis University Scholarship designation.

- Annual filing of the specific academic year’s Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) between January 1 and March 1 is required to be considered for or to renew the University’s need-based SLU Grant, and most other limited state or federal financial assistance.

- All first-time freshman students must submit a completed Application for Freshman Admission and Scholarships by December 1 to receive scholarship consideration. First time freshman students must also submit a $200 deposit to the Office of Undergraduate Admission and a copy of their Office of Student Financial Services Award Notification, postmarked by May 1, in order to secure placement in the entering class and the receipt of any University-funded scholarship assistance.

- All first-time transfer students must submit a completed Application for Transfer Admission and Scholarships by February 1 to receive scholarship consideration. All first time transfer students must also submit a $100 deposit to the Office of Undergraduate Admission and a signed copy of their Office of Student Financial Services Award Notification, postmarked by August 1, in order to secure placement in the entering class and the receipt of any University-funded scholarship assistance.

Policies and Practices Governing Scholarship/Financial AidPhilosophy of the Saint Louis University Office of Scholarship/Financial Aid

- Our first responsibility is to assist the most economically disadvantaged student, so the University makes available a wealth of merit and unique characteristic/talent award programs.
- Self-help (loans and work) should be part of the University's scholarship/financial aid award.
- Students and their families should make a commitment to their education with both current and future earnings, which means both working and borrowing to pay for their Saint Louis University education.
- Student budgets should reflect reasonable allowances for average student expenses.
- The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA or Renewal FAFSA) is designed to provide an equitable formula for evaluating a student's financial need.
- The FAFSA's need eligibility formula may not address each family's situation. Therefore, the University's Special Conditions-Unusual Circumstances Financial Data Statement and similar documents are provided for the student and family to address and document their special needs.

- Funding is limited and may not meet a student's total need for assistance. It should be noted that the Office of Student Financial Services will award need-based aid to the neediest students on a first-apply, first-awarded basis, and then continue until funding is exhausted.

- The Office of Student Financial Services has a responsibility to provide information and develop policies that minimize defaults on student loans.

- The Scholarship/Financial Aid packaging process ensures the effective use of available funds, and the fair and equitable treatment of all applicants.

Student Rights and Responsibilities

Current federal law requires each eligible institution participating in Title IV federal and state financial aid programs to provide consumer product information about student financial assistance and other institutional information. Deciding to Accept or Decline Your Scholarship/Financial Aid Award

We encourage you to be aware of the following:

1. It is our policy to award limited-funded, need-based assistance to students who demonstrate the highest financial need, based on available funds. For you to be able to afford the cost of attending Saint Louis University, assuming you have high financial need, we expect it to be necessary for you to also accept loans and/or work-study. We award scholarship/financial aid programs based on the information you provide to Saint Louis University. Your eligibility may change when we reconsider any new information or changes (financial, enrollment status, family, housing, regulations, funding, etc.).
2. If you have any questions regarding your Scholarship/Financial Aid Award, you may contact the Office of Student Financial Services to address your concerns.
3. Your signature on your Scholarship/Financial Aid Award Notification certifies that:
 - You are accepting or declining the aid offered to you as indicated on the Award Notification.
 - You will report receipt of any additional resources, such as scholarships and other changes (enrollment, housing, etc.) to the Office of Student Financial Services.
 - You understand that you may be required to verify all information on your FAFSA.

- You agree to comply with all policies and practices as detailed in this Bulletin and all other University publications. You permit your awarded federal Title IV aid to pay for prior or current period University charges as accumulated in your student account unless you circle NO for this question on the Award Notification. By answering NO to these questions, your federal Title IV aid, if any, will only be applied to current academic year University tuition and room/board student account charges.
 - You understand that the information contained in the award notification is for informational purposes only and is not to be construed as an offer to contract.
4. If you attend two schools in the same enrollment period, you must inform the Office of Student Financial Services at both schools. You can only receive federal or state aid at one school during the enrollment period.

Enrollment and Academic Criteria

All University scholarship/financial aid is awarded subject to acceptance and admission to the University. A student is eligible for scholarship/financial aid if he/she maintains satisfactory academic progress and adheres to all other pertinent University regulations and policies per each Scholarship/Financial Aid program. To maintain satisfactory academic progress, a student must meet the Academic Progress Policy. See the section entitled Satisfactory Academic Progress Requirements for all particulars.

Scholarship/Financial Aid Review/Cancellation

The Office of Student Financial Services reserves the right on behalf of the University to increase, decrease or cancel an award due to changes in housing, aid sources, income/assets, academics, regulations, appropriations or processing errors.

Other Scholarship/Financial Aid

Recipients of Scholarship/Financial Aid from the University are required to notify the Office of Student Financial Services of any other scholarships, grants, loans, or employment offered to them from all sources outside or within the University. Failure to do so will result in the cancellation of all or a portion of the award. The University reserves the right to make warranted changes in a Scholarship/Financial Aid package whenever necessary.

Payment of Scholarship/Financial Aid

The total amount of awarded assistance as shown on the Award Notification is paid in enrollment period installments. A portion of each award (with the exception of the Federal Work-Study Program and any other work program) is credited to the student's account per awarded enrollment period. If a credit balance remains in the student's account after all charges have been paid, student aid refunds are mailed to the student within two weeks.

Scholarship/Financial Aid Renewability

No University, federal, state or private need-based assistance programs awarded on FAFSA information are automatically renewed from year to year. These funds are limited and subject to the availability of funds. A FAFSA or Renewal FAFSA must be submitted each new academic year, on or as soon after January 1 as possible, and in no event later than March 1. The FAFSA must be submitted to the federal FAFSA processor to establish new academic year, need-based assistance eligibility. While the need-based SLU Grant does require annual FAFSA filing between January 1 and March 1 and a showing of financial need for award consideration, the majority of University merit, characteristic and talent Scholarships are renewed each year without Scholarship re-application or FAFSA filing, assuming the scholar has maintained the minimum renewal criteria required for the specific scholarship program.

University Withdrawal/Enrollment Changes

If you withdraw from the University or drop classes within an enrollment period, keep the following points in mind:

- To officially withdraw or drop classes, students must contact Academic Services, which is located in the Academic Resources Center, Room 220, or your Dean's office, and follow all required official withdrawal/drop procedures.
- Consult your school/program's policies and practices regarding grades when withdrawing or dropping classes. If you leave the University and do not formally withdraw, you will be assigned a grade of "F" (failure).
- Withdrawal or dropping classes does not eliminate your financial obligation to the University. You are still responsible for any charges owed to the University at the time you withdraw or drop classes, based on the University's tuition and housing refund policies.
- There are specific federal, state, and University withdrawal/ drop policies regarding tuition and fees, housing charges, refunds to scholarship/financial aid programs, and repayments, which result from withdrawal from enrollment. Consult the Office of Student Financial Services for all particulars.
- When withdrawing or dropping classes, there are two situations, which may require an immediate repayment of scholarship/financial aid funds.
 - If your University charges are reduced because of withdrawal or dropping classes, and it creates a credit balance in your student account, these funds may be used to repay your scholarship/financial aid awarded programs. This will depend on the amount of your scholarship/financial aid and the date of your withdrawal.
 - If you withdraw completely from the University, you are no longer eligible to receive any scholarship/financial aid payments from that date forward. Federal Work-Study money earned before withdrawal will be paid. Students may not work on Federal Work-Study after withdrawing from the University.
- Information regarding the federal/state and University regulations for calculating scholarship/financial aid refunds and repayments and the order of programs to which we restore aid is described in the section entitled, Scholarship/Financial Aid Withdrawal/Drop Refund Policy.
- Students receiving a University funded merit-based Scholarship program must request a Scholarship Leave of Absence before withdrawal from the University. Failure to obtain an approved Scholarship Leave of Absence before withdrawing from the University terminates the student's renewal scholarship eligibility. Contact the Office of Student Financial Services for the Scholarship Leave of Absence Request form.

Personal Status Changes

Any change in name, address, aid sources, enrollment or other changes to student status must be reported immediately to the Office of Student Financial Services. Changes in the family's financial circumstances may be submitted to the Office of Student Financial Services at any time for review, to receive consideration for assistance adjustments.

Enrollment Status

Eligibility for University Scholarship/Financial Aid programs requires a minimum period enrollment status depending on the Scholarship/Financial Aid program. In general, University and state scholarships/grants require consecutive full-time, undergraduate day school enrollment, and federal programs require at least a half-time enrollment status, except for the Pell Grant program. See each Scholarship/Financial Aid program described for minimum enrollment status eligibility. Enrollment status is based on for credit, tuition charged enrollment hours.

FALL, SPRING AND SUMMER SEMESTERS

Undergraduate

Full-Time12 or more hours per semester
Half-Time6 to 11 hours per semester
Less Than Half-Time5 hours or less per semester

Undergraduate - School for Professional Studies

Full-Time6 hours per term
Half-Time3 to 5 hours per term
Less Than Half-Time2 hours or less per term

University Scholarship And Funded Programs' Policies And Practices

The following general policies and practices apply to initial and renewal eligibility for University scholarship and funded programs, in addition to each program's specific eligibility criteria:

- University funded programs are subject to change. The University reserves the right to change, reduce, or cancel University funded programs.
- Undergraduate Scholarship/Award eligibility is generally for a maximum of eight semesters of consecutive full-time, undergraduate, day school, for credit enrollment or until the completion of a first baccalaureate degree, whichever occurs first.
- Undergraduate Scholarship/Award eligibility for Transfer scholarships is for a maximum of six semesters for the Phi Theta Kappa and Jesuit Transfer Scholarships or four semesters for the St. Louis Community College Honors and J. Paul Fechter Service Scholarships, or until the completion of a first baccalaureate degree, whichever occurs first.
- Each Undergraduate Scholarship/Award program requires a minimum cumulative, University grade-point-average and in some instances, service and/or leadership obligations, in order to maintain renewal eligibility.
- Students who fail to maintain their scholarship renewal criteria as measured at the end of each academic year are permitted one year of scholarship probation. If at the end of the probationary year, the student's academic and/or service/ leadership scholarship requirements are still deficient, the student's renewal scholarship eligibility is terminated from that date forward. A student has the right to appeal Scholarship termination. Contact the Office of Student Financial Services for scholarship termination appeal policies and procedures.
- Scholarship students, who do not enroll as full-time, undergraduate, day school students, forfeit their Scholarship eligibility from that date forward. The exception to this policy is for students approved for a Scholarship Leave of Absence. Contact the Office of Student Financial Services for Scholarship Leave of Absence policies and procedures before enrolling less than full-time or withdrawing from the University for any/all reasons.
- The award value of University merit-based Scholarship programs is established in the initial Admission entry year and renewed at that same award value, provided the scholar demonstrates renewal eligibility.
- Undergraduate Scholarship/Award eligibility is only for the Fall and Spring semesters of the academic year.
- Residence Life Scholarships require housing in University residence halls/apartments and/or billing of Residence Life charges through the Office of Student Accounts.
- Students eligible for University Benefit programs (Child/ Spouse, Faculty/Staff, SLU Tenet, FACHEX, Tuition Exchange) are not eligible to receive other University funded assistance programs.
- Students eligible for the Child/Spouse, Faculty/Staff, FACHEX, or Tuition Exchange University Benefit will be assessed a per course handling fee each semester.
- Students eligible for free tuition assistance from non-University and University funded sources (scholarships, grants, benefits, etc.), which in combination exceeds the enrollment period's tuition charges, will have their University tuition funded sources reduced to the level where the sum of total free tuition assistance equals the enrollment period's tuition charges.

- The University's Scholarship Program is subsidized by generous gifts from donors, corporations, and foundations. Selected scholarship awardees are notified annually of the donor(s) funding their scholarship and may be requested to write a letter of appreciation and/or to attend a reception to thank their scholarship's donor to ensure that scholarship resources will be available into perpetuity. Selected student awardees will be required annually to submit their letter(s) of appreciation, per the specified deadline date, and/or to attend a reception to thank their scholarship's donor in order to maintain renewal University Scholarship eligibility.

Scholarship/Financial Aid For University Study Abroad/Away Programs

Students enrolling in the University's study-abroad/away programs (Saint Louis University at Madrid - Spain, France, Beijing, Maastricht Center for Transatlantic Studies...) are eligible to receive scholarship/financial aid programs but with certain limitations. Students considering enrollment in the University's study-abroad/away programs must contact the International Center before registering for any University study-abroad enrollment periods, and complete a study abroad checklist. To complete the checklist, students must also contact the Office of Student Financial Services for information regarding eligible financial aid programs and award limitations.

A student pursuing an approved study-abroad/away educational experience not offered/sponsored by Saint Louis University may still be eligible to utilize non-University financial aid programs to assist in paying for such an experience. In order to obtain such eligibility a student must initiate a Saint Louis University Financial Aid Consortium Agreement, to be entered into between Saint Louis University and the school sponsoring the study abroad opportunity. The following conditions must be present in regard to that study abroad experience for Saint Louis University to enter into a consortium agreement:

Saint Louis University may enter into Financial Aid Consortium Agreements with other institutions, which provide sound, and unique, full-time, full-semester educational experiences, which are not available at Saint Louis University. These agreements allow Saint Louis University to process certain types of financial aid for a student's use for no more than one year at the other institution. The deans of individual colleges must evaluate and may approve, on a case-by-case basis, the academic merit of the study-away experience/course work and its transferability to the student's University degree program. Such Financial Aid Consortium Agreements will allow students, contingent on aid program regulations, to utilize only the federal Pell grant, federal Stafford loan, federal Parent loan, and any state or private (non-University) student aid programs in meeting the costs of attendance at the consortium institution.

Students interested in exploring a non-University study-away enrollment are strongly encouraged to discuss the experience thoroughly with the Dean's Office before beginning the application process. Afterwards, the student may pick up the Financial Aid Consortium Agreement form that is available in the Office of Student Financial Services.

Federal Aid Programs General Information

The U.S. Department of Education has the following major Student Financial Assistance (SFA) Programs: Federal Pell Grants, Stafford Loans, PLUS Loans, Consolidation Loans, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOGs), Federal Work-Study, and Federal Perkins Loans.

- Grants are financial aid you do not have to pay back.

- Work-Study lets you work and earn money to help pay for school.
- Loans are borrowed money that you must repay with interest.

Student Eligibility for Federal Student Aid Programs

To receive aid from one or more of these federal student aid programs, the student must:

- Demonstrate FAFSA financial need, except in the case of some loan programs.
- Have a high school diploma or a General Education Development (GED) Certificate, pass a test approved by the U.S. Department of Education, or meet other established state standards approved by the U.S. Department of Education.
- Be enrolled or accepted for enrollment as a regular student working toward a degree or certificate in an eligible program. (You may not receive aid for correspondence or telecommunications courses unless they are part of an associate, bachelor's, or graduate degree program.)
- Be a U.S. citizen or eligible noncitizen.
- Have a valid Social Security Number.
- Make satisfactory academic progress.
- Sign a statement on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) certifying that you will use federal student aid only for educational purposes.
- Sign a statement on the FAFSA certifying that you are not in default on a federal student loan and that you do not owe money back on a federal student grant.
- Register with the Selective Service,* if required.
 - *If you are a male 18 through 25 years of age and you have not yet registered with Selective Service, you can give Selective Service permission to register you by checking a box on the FAFSA. You can also register through the Internet at www.sss.gov.

When you apply for aid from the federal student aid programs, the U.S. Department of Education verifies some of your information with the following federal agencies:

- Social Security Administration (for verification of Social Security Numbers and U.S. citizenship status).
- Selective Service System (for verification of Selective Service registration status, if applicable).
- Immigration and Naturalization Service (for verification of eligible noncitizenship status, if applicable).
- Department of Justice (for verification that a student has not been denied Federal student aid by the courts as a result of a drug-related conviction).
- Veterans' Administration (for verification of veteran's status, for dependency status determination).

FAFSA Financial Need

Aid from most of the federal student aid programs is awarded based on financial need (except for the Unsubsidized Stafford and PLUS loans). When you apply for federal student aid, the information you report on your FAFSA is used in a formula established by the U.S. Congress. The formula determines your Expected Family Contribution (EFC), an amount you and your family are expected to contribute toward your education. If your EFC is below a certain amount, you will be eligible for federal student aid programs, assuming you meet all other eligibility requirements. There is no maximum EFC that defines eligibility for federal student aid programs. Instead, your EFC is used in an equation to determine your financial need:

$$\frac{\text{Costs of Attendance}}{\text{-Expected Family Contribution (EFC)}} = \text{Financial Need}$$

Your financial aid administrator calculates your Saint Louis University costs of attendance and subtracts the amount you and your family are expected to contribute toward these costs. If there is anything left over, you are considered to have financial need. In determining your need for aid from the federal student aid programs, your financial aid administrator must first consider other aid you are expected to receive.

NOTE: The financial aid administrator puts together a financial aid package that comes as close as possible to meeting your need. However, because funds are limited, the amount awarded to you may fall short of the amount for which you are eligible.

Your financial aid administrator can adjust data used to calculate your EFC or adjust your cost of attendance if he or she believes your family's financial circumstances warrant it based on the documentation you provide. However, the financial aid administrator is not required to make such an adjustment.

Dependency Status

When you apply for federal student aid, your answers to certain questions will determine whether you are considered dependent on your parents or independent. If you are considered dependent on your parents, you must report their income and assets as well as your own on your FAFSA. If you are considered independent, you must report only your own income and assets (and those of your spouse, if you're married) on your FAFSA.

The federal test for independent status requires that you meet at least one of the following:

- You are twenty-four years of age.
- You are married.
- You are enrolled in a graduate or professional educational program (beyond a bachelor's degree).
- You have children who receive more than half of their support from you.
- You have legal dependents other than children or a spouse.
- You are an orphan or ward of the court (or were a ward of the court until age 18).
- You are a veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces or a student who attended a U.S. service military academy and was released under a condition other than dishonorable.

Your school may ask you to submit proof that you meet at least one of the above criteria before awarding you federal student aid based on independent student status. If you think you have unusual circumstances that would make you independent even though none of the above criteria applies to you, talk to your aid administrator. He or she can change your status if he or she thinks your circumstances warrant it based on the documentation you provide. But remember, the aid administrator will not automatically do this. That decision is based on his or her judgment, and it is final - you cannot appeal it to the U.S. Department of Education.

Applying for Financial Aid

What form do I use?

You apply for federal student aid programs each school year by filing that school year's Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or Renewal FAFSA, available in high school guidance offices and in the Saint Louis University Office of Student Financial Services. If you apply by mail, send your completed application in the envelope that came with it. It is already addressed, and using it will ensure that your application reaches the correct address.

How can I file the FAFSA?

You may file your FAFSA by mail, or electronically via FAFSA on the Web, which is a free U.S. Department of Education web site. You can complete the FAFSA online, and then submit it via the Internet. You can use FAFSA on the Web on a personal computer (PC) or on a Macintosh that is equipped with a supported browser. The Internet address is www.fafsa.ed.gov.

It is recommended that students and parents save time by requesting personal identification numbers called PINS before the student applies for aid with the FAFSA. You can apply for parental and student pin numbers at www.pin.ed.gov. The PIN can be used as an electronic signature for FAFSA on the Web, decreasing overall processing time. The parent's PIN can be used to sign FAFSAs for all of that parent's children and/or for the parent's own FAFSA. An ideal time to get a PIN would be November or December before the new academic school year. The PIN can be used whenever student aid is being applied for, to check the status of a student aid application, and to gain access to a student's Department of Education records.

How do I sign the FAFSA on the Web if I do not have a PIN?

If you do not use a PIN number, you will have to print off the signature page of the FAFSA on the Web, student and parent will both have to sign it, and then it must be mailed to the federal processors at the address designated on the FAFSA. The FAFSA on the Web will not be processed unless a signature page is sent and received for the application, or electronic PIN numbers are used with the application.

Will I need to fill out forms in addition to the FAFSA to receive aid?

For most of the federal aid programs, the FAFSA (or Renewal FAFSA) may be the only form you need to file, whether by paper or electronically. However, some students are selected for income verification and must turn in requested verification documents. In addition, to receive a Federal Subsidized Stafford Loan or Unsubsidized Stafford Loan or a PLUS Loan, you will have to complete additional forms.

When do I apply?

Apply as soon AFTER January 1 as possible. (You cannot apply before this date.) Do not sign, date, or send your application before January 1. You need to apply only once each school year for each student attending college.

NOTE: You must reapply for federal aid every academic year. In addition, if you change schools, your aid does not go with you. Check with your new school to find out what steps you must take.

What happens after I apply for student aid?

After the federal processors receive your completed application, you will be sent a Student Aid Report (SAR). The SAR will report the information from your FAFSA application and, if there are no problems with your application, your SAR will also indicate your Expected Family Contribution (EFC), the number used by colleges and universities to determine your eligibility for federal student aid. These results will be sent to you and to the schools that you list on your FAFSA application.

If you applied using FAFSA on the Web, your data will be processed when your complete application is received; either a FAFSA on the Web must be received with parental and student PIN numbers electronically signing it, or the signature page that was mailed in separately must be matched up with the previously filed FAFSA on the Web. You will receive a Student Aid Report (SAR) in the mail approximately one week after you complete your FAFSA application on the Web. If you provided an email address, you will receive an email notification/SAR within three days. If you applied by mail, your application will be processed within approximately four weeks; at which time, you would then receive a SAR in the mail.

Scholarship/Financial Aid Refund Policy

If a student reduces registration hours or withdraws completely from all classes within an enrollment period, the student's awarded scholarship/financial aid assistance may be subject to adjustments in order to comply with funding agency/program regulations (University, Federal, State, Private).

Federal, University, State and Private Aid Refund Policies and Procedures:

All Federal and Missouri need-based Student Aid Refund Policies and Procedures require that if a student withdraws from all classes prior to the date when 60% of the enrollment period's class days have passed, a student's federal/state student aid for that enrollment period is subject to adjustment. The adjustment of the student's federal/state student aid is determined by calculating the percentage of federal/state aid earned for the number of class days the student was enrolled for the enrollment period. This percentage is calculated by counting the number of class days the student was enrolled, as measured from the first day of classes of the enrollment period to the class date of the student's withdrawal, divided by the number of total class days within the enrollment period. This percentage determines the amount of federal/state student aid the student earned for the enrollment period with the unearned balance being returned to the federal/state aid program(s).

University and Private-Funded Aid Refund Policies and Procedures mandate that if a student withdraws from all classes within an enrollment period, aid programs funded from these sources are adjusted by the percentage, if any, used to adjust the student's tuition charges for the enrollment period. This University and Private Funded Aid Refund Policy and Procedure does not apply to Residence Life dorm specific aid. Residence Life dorm aid is adjusted by the same percentage, if any, used to adjust the student's Residence Life room and board costs for the enrollment period.

Students who reduce registration hours, but do not completely withdraw from all courses, within an enrollment period may have their federal, state, university and private scholarship/financial aid assistance adjusted based on the percentage, if any, used to adjust the student's tuition charges for the enrollment period, subject to each aid program's refund policies and procedures. If, after all required Refund adjustments are made, a student account balance results, the student will be mailed a student account bill detailing all adjustments (scholarship/financial aid, tuition ...).

Note: If a student's federal aid adjustment requires the return/refund of loan funds previously refunded to the student, he student will be responsible to repay these funds to the lender as delineated on the loan's promissory note. Excess loan funds not previously refunded to the student would be returned to the lender. Worksheets used to determine the amount of funds to be returned to aid programs are available upon request.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Requirements

Federal and state regulations require that educational institutions measure students' progress toward a declared educational objective, both quantitatively and qualitatively. In accordance with these requirements, Saint Louis University has established the following standards to measure a student's Academic Progress. These standards are applied uniformly to all students when determining their eligibility for federal/state and University administered and/or other funds, regardless of whether the student previously received these funds.

Quantitative Measurement Requirement

To maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress, a student must complete/earn at least 75% of attempted credit hours each academic year. Earned credit hours include all credit hours for which the student received grades of: A, B+, B, C+, C, D, S, and P. Credit hours not accepted as earned include credit hours taken for audit, credit hours for which no grade was received and credit hours for which the student received grades of: W (withdrawal), U (unsatisfactory), I (incomplete), F (failing), AF (absence failure), NP (not passed), or X (failure to take exam).

Maximum Attempted Enrollment Credit Hours Time Frame

The maximum attempted enrollment credit hours a student may enroll for to complete their University program of study may not exceed 180 attempted enrollment credit hours for the completion of a 120 credit hour degree program. For students who transfer into the University, the 180-attempted enrollment credit hour maximum includes attempted credit hours at other, colleges/universities attended, if the University accepted transfer credit hours.

NOTE: For academic programs requiring less or more than 120 credit hours for degree/certificate completion, the maximum attempted enrollment credit hours for program completion is 150% of required hours for program completion.

Qualitative Requirement: Cumulative University Grade Point Average (GPA)

In addition to the 150% attempted enrollment credit hours maximum for program completion, students must also maintain a University cumulative GPA of 2.00 in order to demonstrate Satisfactory Academic Progress. The University cumulative 2.00 GPA requirement applies to all federal/state student aid programs and for certain University Scholarship programs as detailed for each Scholarship/Award program. Certain University Scholarship/Award programs require the maintenance of a higher minimum University cumulative GPA requirement to receive renewal eligibility, in addition to other program requirements. See each Scholarship/Award program description for the minimum renewal University cumulative GPA requirements, other requirements and the maximum duration of Scholarship award eligibility.

Monitoring Satisfactory Academic Progress Requirements

At the end of each academic year (Spring enrollment period), the student's academic record will be reviewed for Satisfactory Academic Progress.

- If a student exceeds the maximum attempted enrollment hour requirement for federal Title IV/state eligibility, that student will be terminated from receiving federal Title IV/state funds, from that enrollment period forward.
- If a student fails to meet the minimum cumulative GPA requirement or does not earn the minimum number of credit hours for federal Title IV/state and/or University Scholarships/Awards, that student will be on Academic Progress Probation for the succeeding academic year.

- If at the end of the probationary academic year, the student is still below the minimum University cumulative GPA requirement of a 2.00, or higher depending on Scholarship/Award program's minimum cumulative GPA, and/or has not earned sufficient credit hours, the student's eligibility for federal Title IV/state and/or University Scholarships/Awards will be terminated from that enrollment period forward.

Appeal Procedures for Students Terminated From Title IV, State and/or University Scholarship/Award Eligibility

A student terminated from receiving federal Title IV/state and/or University Scholarship/Award programs due to failure to meet Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements may appeal this termination. Contact the Office of Student Financial Services for all required procedures and forms to petition for reinstatement.

General Scholarship/Financial Aid

Application Steps

In order to be considered for University Scholarships/Financial Aid, the following application steps must be completed.

- Step 1: Apply for Undergraduate Admission and be admitted to Saint Louis University. (For merit-based scholarship consideration admission requirements must be complete by December 1.)
- Step 2: Apply for need-based assistance programs by filing each new year's Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Early FAFSA filing is strongly encouraged for award consideration and even required where programs have limited funding.
- Step 3: If applicable, the student will be informed of other application requirements after the initial application for Undergraduate Admission and Scholarship has been processed or the results of the student's FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) filing has been received.

Financial Aid File Completion Guidelines

If federal or state aid is being sought for any of the University's academic enrollment periods, file completion deadline dates have been established to better ensure funds availability and adequate processing time. Failure to complete your federal/ state aid application file by the following deadline date per enrollment period will result in the denial of federal/state aid for that enrollment period.

Summer Sessions	June 30
Fall Periods	November 1
Spring Periods	March 31

Upon federal/state financial aid application file completion, the Office of Student Financial Services reviews the student's application for award eligibility, and assembles an assistance package based on all pertinent regulations, academic standing, eligible programs, and funds availability. If the Office of Student Financial Services believes certain eligibility items, are suspect, incomplete, or inconsistent, all such items must be resolved, corrected, and/or updated, as appropriate, before a student will be eligible to be paid any federal/state aid. If aid eligibility changes result due to the Verification/Audit process, the student will be informed of these changes by a Revised Award Notification. If a student receives any federal/state aid based on incorrect information, awarded assistance may have to be adjusted. If fraud is suspected, the student will be informed of the procedures that he/she will have to complete in order to resolve the suspicion. Failure to comply will result in the student's case being referred to the Student Validation Branch of the U.S. Department of Education.

Saint Louis University's Quality Assurance Program (QAP) Participation

Saint Louis University participates in the U.S. Department of Education's Quality Assurance Program (QAP). This program was designed to assure accuracy in the administration of federal financial aid. The long term goals of this QAP are to simplify the aid application process, improve and expedite the financial aid delivery process and reduce the amount of documentation that families must submit in order to receive their federal financial aid. Participation for students who have been randomly selected to participate in this program is mandatory in order to receive federal student aid. A University QAP team has been assembled to work with these selected students and their families. If you have any questions regarding this program, please contact the Office of Student Financial Services.

ACADEMIC

POLICIES & PROCEDURES

Examinations

Final Examinations

1. The last examination in a course must be given during final exam week; exceptions must be approved by the Dean. Faculty will administer final examinations according to the schedule for final examinations as printed in the Schedule of Classes publication.
2. If a student has three final examinations scheduled for the same day, a request to postpone the examination scheduled in the middle may be made. Faculty will give every consideration to the student’s request.
3. If a student is absent from a scheduled final examination, the notation “X” is assigned, depending upon the School or College in which the student is enrolled. An advance authorization for deferring the taking of a final examination may be given, but only rarely and for serious reasons (e.g., medical or religious). The student must request the deferral in writing in advance of the final and receive permission from the Instructor. The Dean’s office must also be notified.

Mid-semester Examinations

Absence from mid-semester or other interim examinations may, at the discretion of the instructor, require special examinations.

Credits and the Semester Hour

One credit or semester hour of credit is defined as one lecture, recitation or class exercise fifty minutes per week for one semester. Two, three, or four weekly hours of laboratory, demonstration, etc., varying with departments, are equivalent to one lecture hour. The number in parentheses after a course title listed in “Course Descriptions” indicates the semester hours of credit.

Class Ranking

Classified students are ranked on the basis of completed semester hours accepted for credit.

Freshmen1 to 29 credit hours
Sophomores30 to 59 credit hours
Juniors60 to 89 credit hours
Seniors90 or more credit hours

In the College of Health Sciences including the School of Nursing, the number of completed semester hours accepted for credit is recognized, however, class rank is assigned according to the level of professional courses in which the student is enrolled.

Grade Reports

Midterm Grades

All instructors of undergraduate courses must submit midterm grades for all students at the prescribed time and based on the work done at that point (except in the School for Professional Studies). Students may also access their midterm grades via SLU Self-Service. Exception: Eight week or shorter courses do not issue midterm grades.

Final Grades

Final grades are available for students to access via SLU Self-Service. Students may also request an official copy of their final grades via SLU Self-Service. The official copy will be mailed to the addresses selected by the student.

Grade Point Average (GPA)

The cumulative grade point average (GPA) is determined by dividing the total grade points earned by the total credit hours attempted. All grades received during a student’s enrollment, for which grade points are indicated in the “Undergraduate Grading System” table, are included in the cumulative GPA. Grades for courses transferred from other colleges/universities are excluded.

Undergraduate Grading System

The undergraduate grading system at Saint Louis University follows a 0 - 4.000 grade point scale. Grades are assigned as follows:

Grade	Grade Points	Interpretation
A	4.000	High achievement and intellectual initiative.
A-	3.700	Approaching high achievement.
B+	3.300	Slightly higher than above average achievement.
B	3.000	Above average achievement.
B-	2.700	Approaching above average achievement.
C+	2.300	Slightly higher than average achievement.
C	2.000	Average achievement.
C-	1.700	Below average achievement. Grade does not fulfill “C or better” course requirements.
D	1.000	Inferior but passing achievement. Students should check individual School or departmental policies for further information on potential implications of “D” grades.
F	0	Failure.
AF	0	Failure due to unauthorized withdrawal or excessive absence.
AU	*	Audit. Course appears on the transcript, but no credit is given toward graduation.
