The St. Louis University Graduate Conference in Philosophy
Theme: Darwinism and Philosophy: Past, Present and Future.

Thursday Sept. 18:

3:00 p.m.—5:00 p.m. Keynote Address: “Matters of Chance: Drift and Selection in Evolutionary Explanations”
Dr. Robert Richardson, University of Cincinnati

Friday Sept. 19:

9:00 a.m.—10:00 a.m. “The Evolution of an Illusion: How Darwinism Supports Ethical Skepticism”
Tyler Paytas, University of Missouri - St. Louis
Commentator: James McCollum, St. Louis University

10:15 a.m.—11:15 a.m. “Extending the Limits of Mechanistic Explanation”:
Burkay T. Ozturk, University of Illinois at Chicago
Commentator: Ron Belgau, St. Louis University

11:30 a.m.—1:30 p.m. Lunch Break

1:30 p.m.—2:30 p.m. “Naturalism, Skepticism, and the A Priori”
Wilson C. Schersten, University of Wyoming
Commentator: Brian Cross, St. Louis University

2:45 p.m.—3:45 p.m. “Righting Rey: Computationalism and the Normativity of the Intentional”
Charles Lassiter, Fordham University
Commentator: Charity Anderson, St. Louis University