Registration Policies for Students Who Postpone Degree Conferral for Internships

SLU-Madrid students may postpone their degree conferral date in order to earn internship credits for up to one calendar year.

To participate in a SLU-Madrid sponsored internship, students must remain registered at Saint Louis University-Madrid, even if they have completed all course requirements towards their degrees. They must register for at least one internship credit per semester.

Students who obtain an internship contract (convenio) for one full calendar year must register for internship credits during the fall and spring semesters. These students are permitted to register for the 0-credit internship during the summer. If they choose the 0-credit option for the summer, they must provide proof of insurance or purchase SLU-Madrid’s Sanitas health coverage during the summer months.

Students who have completed all course requirements towards their degree and obtain an internship contract that covers or extends through the summer months must register for at least one internship credit during the summer. If they postpone their degree conferral date to the following December or May, they must continue to remain enrolled in at least one internship credit per semester.

Students who have completed all course requirements towards degree and obtain an internship contract that covers or extends through the following academic semester must register for at least one internship credit during that semester; they may choose to register for the 0-credit internship between May and August. If they choose the 0-credit option for summer, they must provide proof of insurance or purchase SLU-Madrid’s Sanitas health coverage program during the summer months.
