Announcing the 2013 Violence Against Women Best Article Award Winner

Congratulations to Gretchen Arnold and Jami Ake whose article, “Reframing the Narrative of the Battered Women’s Movement” (V. 19, #5, pp. 557-578) was voted by VAW’s associate editors and editorial board as the Best Article of 2013. The authors will receive a plaque and share a cash prize of $100.

Congratulations as well to the following authors whose articles were also nominated for the award:

L. K. Gillespie, T. N. Richards, E. M. Givens, & M. D. Smith, “Framing Deadly Domestic Violence: Why the Media’s Spin Matters in Newspaper Coverage of Femicide” (February, pp. 222-245).

N. Mitra & G. Hague (Guest Editors), “Special Issue: Transnational Conversations on Sociolegal Responses to Violence Against Women in India and the United Kingdom” (October).

A. S. Reina, M. M. Maldonado, & B. James, “Undocumented Latina Networks and Responses to Domestic Violence in a New Immigrant Gateway: Towards a Place-Specific Analysis” (December, pp. 1472-1497).

Sincere thanks to SAGE Publications for their generous sponsorship of this annual award.
