A “Bark” B Que” to Benefit Stray Rescue

The Saint Louis University Museum of Art patio

Wednesday, Sept. 5

11 a.m. – 1 p.m.

Hot dogs, chips, and bottled water ... $3.00.

An opportunity to help Stray Rescue of St. Louis ... priceless.

On Wednesday, Sept. 5, beginning at 11 a.m., enjoy a Bark-B-Que lunch on the patio of the Saint Louis University Museum and support our current exhibition, Urban Wanderers. The heartwarming exhibition features paintings, photographs and sculpture devoted to the “survivors” of Stray Rescue. All artwork is available for auction and benefits Stray Rescue.

Save room for dessert! Sarah’s Cake Stop, a mobile cupcake and dessert truck will be on-premise to offer delicious cupcakes for purchase. A sweet deal!

The “Bark-B-Que” begins at 11 a.m. and continues until 1 p.m.

Sit. Stay. Pay $3.00, which includes a hot dog, chips and bottled water. Cupcakes from Sarah’s Cake Stop will be sold separately.

If “a picture is worth a thousand words,” the walls of the Human Resources training room are currently speechless. To fix this problem, Human Resources is seeking photography to decorate the walls of our training room in the Wool Center, and our team wants to include photos you have taken of your favorite places on SLU’s campus. In the spirit of building an environment to foster learning, sharing, and development, we see the training room as a room built by the people for the people. Your photographs will serve as a reminder of your shared membership of this space.

We invite you to electronically submit photos you have taken to be entered for review and selection. Our team will pick the photographs to display, and will enlarge and frame the images to hang on the walls for all to see in our training room. Each photograph that is chosen will be accompanied by the artist’s name and photo title.

Envision your photos hanging on this training room wall.

Last day for submissions will be on Friday, September 14.

If you are having any trouble submitting a photo, please send your photo to Sarah Hassen at shassen@slu.edu.

Tea Time

Work-life balance and Personal Development workshops offered through Human Resources Training & Development

All sessions are eligible for 30 Vitality Points!

Join us on September 19 at Busch Student Center Room 251 for Happy Hour!

Balancing enjoyment of adult beverages socially and over indulging has been an ongoing challenge in our society for generations. Rewarding ourselves for a job well done or to unwind from a stressful day or week at work is occasionally accomplished by meeting friends and coworkers for “Happy Hour” at a local drinking establishment. Although alcohol consumption is an acceptable practice in our society, over indulgence very often has consequences affecting the consumer, their friends, family and coworkers. This course will help bring to light the reality of alcohol intoxication, social drinking and driving after work.

Joe Dreyer teaches Musical Theatre and Music Appreciation courses for SPS and is teaching “Approaching the Arts: Musical Theatre” this Fall.

On August 21st, an original 15-minute musical for which Joe provided music and lyrics was presented at The Fox Theatre. The libretto was written by Kim Wylie. The show is called A SHOW IS BORN and introduces theatre to children. It was also presented at The Fox in 2011.

The show is designed to augment the Fox Charitable Arts Foundation’s KID’S NIGHT ON BROADWAY, which features different kinds of presentations and activities for families prior to the main stage show. A SHOW IS BORN was presented in two performances on the 2nd floor mezzanine, prior to this year’s featured family musical, THE LION KING.

How do others see you? What should they see?

Take the time during the day to hold up the mirror, reflect on your day, and invite God in.
As we begin another academic year at Saint Louis University, let us be willing to reflect on our relationship with God and with each other.

Reflection
When you look in the mirror...

What do you see?
