1.0 PURPOSE

This policy establishes and codifies the bylaws of the Graduate Academic Affairs Committee (GAAC).

2.0 COMMITTEE DEFINITION & RESPONSIBILITIES

Article I. Name

The governance body for all post-baccalaureate programs, minors, and certificates is the Graduate Academic Affairs Committee (GAAC).

Article II. Purpose

GAAC is the principal advisory body to the Associate Provost for Academic Affairs regarding Graduate Education. It is generally concerned with the development, improvement, and quality assurance of post-baccalaureate studies at the University. As such, GAAC reviews and recommends proposals for new degree programs, minors and certificates; periodically assesses program quality per University policy; reviews substantive program changes as proposed by the Dean (of a School or College) or Director (of a Center); and reviews and comments on University policy changes related to these programs.

All proposals to create or change university-wide post-baccalaureate and graduate Academic Affairs policies must be submitted to GAAC for review and its recommendation to the Provost, who acts on such recommendations in consultation with the Council of Deans and Directors (CADD).

All proposals to create/implement new degree programs, minors or certificates (as described above) must be submitted to GAAC for review. Based on this review, GAAC makes a recommendation to CADD and the Provost. Any GAAC proposal not recommended for approval may be revised and re-submitted to GAAC for approval, or be appealed directly to the Provost.
