Political science studies the most controversial topics in the US and the world. Is it possible to talk about them in a rational manner? In this course we will explore how political scientists attempt to make sense of these and other problems, and ask whether their findings can be of value to ordinary citizens coping with these realities.

Readings
II. Primary texts available online or on Blackboard.

Students should bring to class and be prepared to discuss the week’s assigned readings.

Assignments
Participation: 10% grade
DQs: 10% grade
Office hour visit: 5%
Democratic debate reflection paper: 5%
Three exams: 40% (Exam 1: 10%; Exams 2 and 3 15% each)
Political Philosophy Paper & Presentation: 10%
IR presentations: 10%
Democracy debate: 10%

Attendance is critical to your success in this class, and will be checked regularly. Poor attendance will result in a reduced participation grade. Active participation is highly valued, and will be graded based upon quantity and quality. Please do not confuse participation with attendance: if you come to class and say nothing, you will earn no participation credit. I realize that some people struggle to speak in class and interact with other students, but an introductory course like ours is a wonderful opportunity to confront that struggle. Please talk with me if you find this difficult. I will encourage class participation in the early weeks of the semester by regular small group activities that are meant to engage our material in practical, concrete ways.

Part of your grade will include submitting answers to discussion questions (DQs). I require students to submit hard copies of answers to questions according to the schedule I post on Blackboard. Writing answers to these DQs means that you will have ready material for class discussion, and a basic mastery of the reading. I will not require DQs for every week.

I require every student to visit my office hours at the beginning of the semester. Feel free to come with questions about the readings or the class, or just to chat about your interests.
The reflection paper on the Democratic presidential debate requires you to watch one of the two debates and reflect upon it based upon the material of the first weeks of class.

The three exams will be a combination of multiple choice and short-answer questions.

This course includes three presentations. First, you will present briefly your paper on political theory. Second, you will work together in groups to present a lesson in our IR section. Third and finally, you will debate in groups the most important component of democracy. As you can see, the presentations build in skills: the first is a simple solo presentation, the second involves group work, and the third will involve both group work and responding to other groups. In some cases I will ask you to evaluate other students’ presentations, primarily so you can learn from them. All of this should be fun!

Participation in the group presentations is essential for you and for your group. If you know that you will not be present for some or all of the IR and Comparative Politics presentations, please tell me immediately. Last-minute excuses will not be accepted.

Grading Scale

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>93-100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>90-92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>87-89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>83-86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>80-82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C+</td>
<td>77-79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>73-76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C-</td>
<td>70-72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>60-70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td>below 60</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Learning objectives

Students will be able to distinguish among the diversity of traditions in the political science discipline. Students will be able to use their knowledge of political systems to engage effectively in political and social life. More generally, students will acquire conceptual tools and methodologies to analyze and understand their social world. With these tools, they will become more effective agents for positive and intelligent change. Students will be able to think and write critically about human behavior and community. They will become aware of the various methodological approaches used by social scientists. Most importantly, students will learn to think reflectively upon what they think they know and believe about politics.

E-mail

Please check your SLU e-mail daily. The University communicates all official messages through e-mail, and I will do the same.

Office Hours

Office hours are for your benefit. Professors have set this time aside specifically to listen to your questions and concerns and respond to them. Take advantage of that. Make a habit of going to office hours early on in each course you take, particularly if you are interested in the material, think that you might have difficulties in the course, or if the professor might later write letters of recommendation for you. Do not be shy about asking to set up an appointment with a professor if the scheduled office hours conflict with your schedule.
Electronics
Consider this class a digital vacation. All electronic devices, including laptops, cell phones, tablets, Blackberries, PDAs and Tamagotchis, should be turned off and stowed before the beginning of class. An exception is when we have online readings, in which laptops are permitted. Please speak to me if think you should be exempt from this rule.

Student Success Center
The Student Success Center assists students with academic and career related services, is located in the Busch Student Center (Suite 331) and the School of Nursing (Suite 114).

Disability Services Academic Accommodations
Students with a documented disability who wish to request academic accommodations are encouraged to contact Disability Services to discuss accommodation requests and eligibility requirements. Please contact Disability Services, located within the Student Success Center, at disability_services@slu.edu or 314-977-3484 to schedule an appointment. Confidentiality will be observed in all inquiries. Once approved, information about academic accommodations will be shared with course instructors via email from Disability Services and viewed within Banner via the instructor’s course roster.

Academic Integrity
Academic integrity is honest, truthful and responsible conduct in all academic endeavors. The mission of Saint Louis University is "the pursuit of truth for the greater glory of God and for the service of humanity." Accordingly, all acts of falsehood demean and compromise the corporate endeavors of teaching, research, health care, and community service through which SLU embodies its mission. The University strives to prepare students for lives of personal and professional integrity and therefore regards all breaches of academic integrity as matters of serious concern. The governing University-level Academic Integrity Policy can be accessed here: https://www.slu.edu/the-office-of-the-provost/academic-affairs-policies. All SLU students are expected to know and abide by these policies, which detail definitions of violations, processes for reporting violations, sanctions, and appeals.

Title IX (of the United States Education Amendments of 1972)
Saint Louis University and its faculty are committed to supporting our students and seeking an environment that is free of bias, discrimination and harassment. If you have encountered any form of sexual misconduct (e.g. sexual assault, sexual harassment, stalking, domestic or dating violence), we encourage you to report this to the University. If you speak with a faculty member about an incident of misconduct, that faculty member must notify SLU’s Title IX coordinator, Anna R. Kratky (DuBourg Hall, room 36; akratky@slu.edu; 314.977.3886) and share the basic facts of your experience with her. The Title IX coordinator will then be available to assist you in understanding all of your options and in connecting you with all possible resources on and off campus. If you wish to speak with a confidential source, you may contact the counselors at the University Counseling Center at 314.977.TALK. View SLU’s sexual misconduct policy: http://www.slu.edu/general-counsel-home/office-of-institutional-equity-and-diversity/sexual-misconduct-policy
Tentative Schedule (subject to change)

“AP” refers to our textbook, Analyzing Politics. “BB” refers to the “Readings” folder on Blackboard.

I. Introduction: Politics & Political Science

Week 1 (26 Aug): Syllabus and Jesuit Education
   McCarthy, “The Uncertain Future…”
   Small group discussion: Why is Jesuit education important to you?

No class Fri, 30 Aug
No class Mon, 2 Sept (Labor Day)

Week 2 (4 Sept): What is Politics?
   Political Literacy Quiz
   Preamble, US Constitution (BB)
   Small group discussion: What role does politics play in your life?

Week 3 (9 Sept): What is Political Science?
   AP, Ch. 2 (skim)
   Putnam, “APSA Presidential Address”
   Smith, “Should We Make...?”
   Small group discussion: Should political science try to be useful to politics? How?

No class Fri, 13 Sept: Watch Democratic Debate

Week 4 (16 Sept): Political Science: Key Concepts
   AP, Ch. 3
   Small group discussion: How have different forms of power shaped your life?

Exam 1: Monday, 23 Sept

II. Political Theory

Week 5 (25 Sept): Political Theory & Philosophy
   AP, Ch. 4
   Small group discussion: Are humans naturally political?

Week 6 (30 Sept): Liberalism, Conservatism and Socialism
   AP, Ch. 5
   Small group discussion: When does ideology become a bad thing?

Week 7 (7 Oct): Fascism
   AP, Ch. 6
   Small group discussion: Why is fascism popular today?

Paper: Monday, 14 October

Week 8 (14 Oct):
   In-class paper presentations

No class Fri-Mon, 18-21 Oct (Fall Break)
III. International Relations (IR)
Week 9 (23 Oct): Presentation Preparation

Week 10 (28 Oct): Models & Issues in IR analysis
   Presentation 1: AP, Ch. 11 (28 Oct)
   Presentation 2: AP, Ch. 12 (30 Oct)

Week 10/11 (4 Nov): IR & Religion
   Presentation 3: Huntington, “The Clash of Civilizations?” (BB) (1 Nov)
   Presentation 4: Philpott, “Explaining the Political Ambivalence” (BB) (4 Nov)

Exam 2: Friday, 8 Nov

IV. Comparative Politics

Week 12 (11 Nov): Democracy
   AP, Ch. 8
   Debate preparation

Week 13 (18 Nov): 5 Components of Democracy
   Debate: Most important component of democracy

Week 14 (25 Nov): Interests & Electoral Institutions
   AP, Ch. 9
   No class Wed-Fri, 27-29 Nov (Thanksgiving)

Week 15 (2 Dec): Governing Institutions
   AP, Ch. 10

Exam 3: Monday, 9 Dec