Course Description and Objectives
This is a graduate-level survey course in the field of international security. The course is designed to provide the student with the background and conceptual tools for understanding international security. It covers a wide range of topics with some of the most important literature. The overall goal of the course is for the student to achieve a heightened level of understanding related topics.

This class fulfills the College and Arts and Sciences Global Citizenship requirement and the social science requirement. For Political Science majors, it counts as an international relations course.

Required Books

These books are available for purchase at the SLU bookstore. Please buy only the designated versions and publishers. In addition, there are supplementary articles and book chapters. They are placed on e-reserve at the library.

Grading
Analysis paper: 30% of final grade
You will write a 1,500-2,000 word paper on readings in one of the weeks between September 15 and October 13. You will make three original arguments based on the readings and defend them from potential counterarguments. A paper shorter than 1,500 words and longer than 2,000 words will be penalized.

Final paper: 40% of final grade
The final paper will be comprehensive. You will receive a paper topic in the class on December 1 and submit your paper electronically by the deadline of 11pm, December 9. You will have to be physically in the class to pick up the topic.

Class participation: 30% of final grade
Your attendance and active participation are vital to the success of this course. At a minimum, you should come to class on time having completed and thought about the assigned readings for that class. We will cover materials during class that are not in the readings (and we will not cover every single point from the readings in class). A record of attendance will be maintained, and it is your individual responsibility to sign the class roster at each session. Your absence will be excused only in case of illness, death or medical emergency in the immediate family, and University-sponsored activities and if you provide evidence (email from your doctor, electronic copy of airplane/bus tickets, or official SLU letter/email about university activities) within 3 days of each absence. Unexcused absences will affect your participation grade. You are responsible for all materials covered in class, whether you are physically present or not.

I expect that all students will contribute to class discussions through analysis, questions, and criticisms of the assigned readings. In assigning participation grades, quality of participation will take precedence over quantity of participation (hence, students who participate frequently but without giving much thought to their comments/questions are not at an advantage compared to students who offer occasional but insightful analysis).

Final letter grades will be assigned that correspond to the following numeric scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>93-100</th>
<th>87-89</th>
<th>77-79</th>
<th>60-70</th>

Student Success

In recognition that people learn in a variety of ways and that learning is influenced by multiple factors (e.g., prior experience, study skills, learning disability), resources to support student success are available on campus. Students who think they might benefit from these resources can find out more about course-level support (e.g., faculty member, departmental resources, etc.) by asking your course instructor and University-level support (e.g., tutoring/writing services, Disability Services) by visiting the Student Success Center (BSC 331) or by going to www.slu.edu/success.

Students who believe that, due to a disability, they could benefit from academic accommodations are encouraged to contact Disability Services at 314-977-8885 or visit the Student Success Center. Confidentiality will be observed in all inquiries. Course instructors support student accommodation requests when an approved letter from Disability Services has been received and when students discuss these accommodations with the instructor after receipt of the approved letter.

Academic Integrity

The University is a community of learning, whose effectiveness requires an environment of mutual trust and integrity. Academic integrity is violated by any dishonesty such as soliciting, receiving, or providing any unauthorized assistance in the completion of work submitted toward academic credit. While not all forms of academic dishonesty can be listed here, examples include copying from another student, copying from a book or class notes during a closed book exam, submitting materials authored by or revised by another person as the student’s own work, copying a passage or text directly from a published source without appropriately citing or recognizing that source, taking a test or doing an assignment or other academic work for another student, securing or supplying in advance a copy of an examination or quiz without the knowledge or consent of the instructor, sharing or receiving the questions from an on-line quiz with another student, taking an on-line quiz with the help of another student, and colluding with another student or students to engage in academic dishonesty.
All clear violations of academic integrity will be met with appropriate sanctions. In this course, academic dishonesty on an assignment will result in an automatic grade of 0 for that assignment and a report of academic dishonesty will be sent to the Academic Honesty Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences. In the case of Class B violations, the Academic Honesty Committee may impose a larger sanction including, but not limited to, assigning a failing grade in the course, disciplinary probation, suspension, and dismissal from the University.

Students should refer to the following SLU website for more information about Class A and B violations and the procedures following a report of academic dishonesty: http://www.slu.edu/college-of-arts-and-sciences-home/undergraduate-education/academic-honesty.

Social Science Core Requirement

Student Outcomes: Students will acquire conceptual tools and methodologies to analyze and understand their social world. With these tools, they will be able to act in their world more effectively and become forces for positive change. They will gain a better understanding of human diversity. Students will be able to think and write critically about human behavior and community. They will become aware of the various methodological approaches used by social scientists.

Global Citizenship

This class fulfills the core Global Citizenship requirement. The Global Citizenship requirement is designed to educate students about global and transnational problems and to provide students with the tools to address issues of social justice beyond the United States. Students who complete the Global Citizenship requirement will gain a substantial subset of the following capabilities:

1. Identify sources of and strategies to address conflict, cooperation or competition in a global or regional context.

2. Investigate how people and nations confront inequality and claim a just place, whether in their own societies or in the world.

3. Identify how perceptions of “otherness” impact leaders, communities, and community-building in areas beyond the U.S. through the examination of such factors as race, ethnicity, gender, religion, economic class, age, physical and mental capability, and sexual orientation.

4. Understand the impact of their lives and choices on global and international issues.

5. Understand how their values are related to those of other people in the world.
