Now is the time to set the course and strategize for the next chapter. This series of sessions will provide a foundation for leaders to create future-focused plans. In several ways, the 2021-22 school year may be more challenging than 2020-21 as schools re-open and students are in desperate need of support and care.

Join state and regional leaders to explore short-term, mid-term, long-term strategies for successful schooling throughout this pandemic and beyond.
