POLITICAL SCIENCE: INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

DEGREE(S)

- + B.A. in Political Science: International Relations
- + M.A. in Political Science and Public Affairs with a concentration in International Relations and Crisis
- + Minor in Political Science

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The B.A. in Political Science with a concentration in International Relations is an innovative and rigorous course of study designed to enhance knowledge and understanding of global affairs. In addition to traditional lectures, as a political science student at SLU-Madrid, your academic experience will draw from class trips and institutional visits, guest speakers, simulation games, case studies, student presentations, debates and videos.

In the culturally rich context of the SLU-Madrid campus with students hailing from as many as 65 different countries, you will learn about international politics from from our expert faculty, as well as from other students, both inside and outside the classroom.

The political science faculty are equally international, with professors from France, Germany, Romania, Syria, Argentina, the Netherlands and the United States.

Seniors have the option of completing a senior thesis and/or an internship for credit at intergovernmental or non-governmental organizations.

In keeping with the Jesuit tradition of promoting the development of the whole person, the political science major also requires the Arts & Sciences Core Curriculum. The Core provides a framework for acquiring a broad foundation of knowledge in the humanities, natural sciences and social sciences.
