INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

DEGREE(S)

+ B.S. in International Business
+ Minor in International Business

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

This degree program examines cross-cultural differences in business practices, language, communication, social interaction, work attitudes, relationships, economics, politics, lifestyle and social structures. Knowledge of other cultures facilitates successful business transactions, not only with other companies, but among partners or entities that consist of multicultural teams, which are more and more prevalent in today’s globalized society. Students in this program will also learn about importing, exporting, foreign direct investment, foreign licensing and international services.

The international business academic curriculum is completely integrated with that of the St. Louis campus in Missouri. In fact, students are encouraged to take advantage of the seamless relationship between the degree programs at both campuses by completing a semester abroad in either Madrid or St. Louis. Students who wish to pursue the Madrid Campus international business program have two options:

+ Complete the entire undergraduate program in Spain with the Richard A. Chaifetz School of Business in Missouri as the degree-granting entity.

+ Enroll in the international business degree program at the Madrid Campus and transfer freely between the St. Louis and Madrid campuses over the course of the undergraduate degree program.

CURRICULUM

In addition to the liberal arts requirements, international business students must complete the business core (45 credits) which includes coursework in a variety of disciplines such as accounting, management, economics, finance, operations management, etc.

International business major: five courses (15 credits) from at least three of the following areas: accounting, economics, international business, marketing and finance.

WHY CHOOSE THIS PROGRAM?

The international business program is interdisciplinary. It prepares students for careers in multinational corporations, financial institutions with foreign operations or government agencies involved in international trade and finance. Graduates find career opportunities with international banks, multinational corporations or other global organizations. Options include working for a foreign company abroad, working for an American company abroad, and working for an American company trading with another country. Many students also go on to graduate school to focus their careers on finance, management or marketing.

In addition to international business, undergraduate business students can also choose among the following business fields:
+ Accounting
+ Entrepreneurship
+ Finance
+ Information Technology Management
+ Leadership and Human Resource Management
+ Marketing
+ Sports Business
+ Economics
