Dear SLU Faculty, Staff, and Students –

I write to invite you to participate in multiple meetings next Monday, November 15th as part of our 10-year re-accreditation review conducted by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC). Every 10 years SLU submits to a team of HLC reviewers an “Assurance Argument”: a major self-evaluation detailing how, and to what extent, SLU meets the HLC’s Criteria for Accreditation. Following the HLC team’s review of our Assurance Argument – which is posted publicly on our accreditation web page – the team visits SLU’s campus to verify the accuracy of the Assurance Argument and solicit related feedback from SLU constituencies.

A schedule of HLC’s site visit meetings, including Zoom links, is provided below. Some of the meetings will be completely virtual, while others will be offered in a hybrid format. Also note that while some meetings are open to all, some are restricted to specific SLU constituencies (either faculty, staff, or students).

We hope as many of you who can participate in the HLC’s meetings will do so. If you have questions about any of the meetings, or about our HLC accreditation or this re-accreditation process, please contact Dr. Steve Sanchez, Associate Provost, at x2611 or steven.sanchez@slu.edu. Thanks in advance for your participation, and thanks to the multiple teams of faculty and staff on our St. Louis and Madrid campuses who worked over the past year to prepare for this review.

Sincerely,

Mike Lewis, Ph.D.
