Dear SLU students, faculty and staff,

The University Undergraduate Core Committee recently circulated three prototypes for a SLU common undergraduate core. You can view all three prototypes and a short presentation on our process here.

We are holding both university-wide and college/unit specific feedback sessions throughout the remainder of the Spring semester: CLICK HERE for a schedule and please consider attending. And please also consider giving us your written feedback with our Qualtrics survey, which will remain open through the end of the semester. CLICK HERE for the survey.

A word on "prototypes": the UUCC chose this word with care. We've created working models that need to be "road tested" by different programs and units. We offer these prototypes to spark a campus-wide conversation about the benefits and tradeoffs of different approaches to a common core. Your feedback will help us to better understand what will work for our university community.

With best regards,

Ellen Crowell
Director of the University Core
