The Philosophy Department offers a Bachelor of Arts degree. The undergraduate courses address the cultural, critical and religious objectives of a complete education. The study of philosophy is intended to lead to an understanding of the foundation of ethics and the application of ethical principles; to the development of critical and reflective thought; and to discussion and application of the grounds from which to examine the meaning of life.

The Philosophy Department offers three majors tracks; Historical, Health Sciences, and Society and Law.
The Historical Undergraduate Track in Philosophy

Required Courses: 30 hours
One course in each of the following areas:
PHIL105: Introduction to Philosophy............................................... 3

Additional Requirement
A single course cannot be used to fulfill more than one requirement.
Senior inquiry satisfied by one of the following:

PHIL488 Project ......................................................... 0-6
The project requires the production of a paper under a faculty mentor and a public presentation
PHIL489 Comprehensive Examination ..................0

Remaining Hours: Any of the approved minors or certificate programs offered by the College of Arts and Sciences can be completed to reach the total of 120 hours required for graduation.

The Health Sciences Undergraduate Track in Philosophy
The value of this track is that its systematic courses enable students with appropriate science backgrounds to achieve a degree of integration between science and philosophy that is far greater than could be obtained solely via the more consistently historical orientation of the historical major in Philosophy.

Required Courses: 30 hours
PHIL105 Introduction to Philosophy............................................... 3
PHIL205 Ethics................................................................................ 3
PHIL440 History of Ancient or PHIL450 Medieval......................... 3
PHIL460 History of Modern.............................................................. 3
PHIL404 or PHIL406 Logic.............................................................. 3
One (1) course in a theoretical (i.e., non-historical, non-applied) area:
PHIL320, 325, 330, 335, any course ranging from:
407 to 439, 472, 474, 477, 485, or 486.................................3

Two (2) of the following:
PHIL336 Medical Ethics, PHIL415 Survey of Philosophy of Science,
PHIL482 Biology and Mind.....................................................6
Senior Inquiry......................................................................0-3 hours

To fulfill his or her science requirements, a student must either:
* Major or minor in Biology, Chemistry or Psychology
* Complete the science requirements of Pre-professional Health Studies Students
* Complete a minimum of 16 hours in the sciences with 8 hours at the upper division (300-400) level.
* A single course cannot be used to fulfill more than one requirement.

Philosophy majors who choose this last option must also consult with faculty outside of the Philosophy Department in order to determine appropriate science courses.

Society and Law Undergraduate

Track in Philosophy
The advantage of this track is that it prepares a student through careful philosophical study for careers dedicated to law, the welfare of society and public service.

Relevant substitutions for the Health Sciences Track and the Society and Law Track should occur in the junior and senior years. It should be noted that the History of Ancient (PHIL440) and History of Modern Philosophy (PHIL460) are always offered during the fall semester, while the History of Medieval (PHIL450) is always offered during the spring semester. The Philosophy of Law (PHIL343), Engineering and Ethics (PHIL340), Logic (PHIL404), and Biology and Mind (PHIL482) are normally offered during the fall semester. Business Ethics (PHIL338) and Logic for Pre-Professionals (PHIL406) are normally offered in the spring semester.
