African American Studies (Bachelor of Arts)
A total of 30 credits are required for completion of the major in African American Studies. Students are able to declare the major after passing either Introduction to African American Studies (AAM 2000) or Contemporary Black America (AAM 2010). Students are required to complete five core courses designed to help them develop an understanding of the African Diaspora, the impact, interrelationships and dynamics in contemporary African American communities. The remaining five courses can be selected from African American Studies courses and courses originating in and offered by other academic units cross listed with African American Studies. These 15 elective credits should cohere around a theme or specific interest with a disciplinary emphasis in either the humanities or social sciences. A theme can focus on areas such as African American literature, history, politics, communication, popular culture, identity, urban issues, Africa and the Diaspora, Black feminist thought, activism, or social movements. Up to 6 credits of electives can be used to satisfy the Arts and Sciences core as well as the major requirement.

For more information on the African American Studies major please visit the African American Studies Program website at http://www.slu.edu/x16271.xml or stop by the African American Studies program office in McGannon Hall Suite 113.
