The Catholic Studies Program in the College of Arts and Sciences offers interdisciplinary and integrated study in the Catholic Intellectual Tradition. The program is designed to explore major questions that have occupied Christian philosophers and theologians, artists and literary writers, political theorists and historians, as well as natural and social scientists for two millennia. In addition to a variety of courses in the Christian intellectual tradition, Catholic Studies offers interested students opportunities to explore the history and mission of the Society of Jesus and the traditions underlying Saint Louis University as a Catholic, Jesuit institution. Along with course work, the program also offers a variety of social and spiritual activities.

Faculty: Catholic Studies Program courses and faculty are cross-listed in a variety of departments.

Minor in Catholic Studies
Students who successfully complete the required 18 credits of course work receive an Interdisciplinary Minor in the Catholic Studies, which can be an important credential in applying for graduate school or for employment. Since many Catholic Studies Program courses also fulfill requirements in the core or in a student's major or minor, participation in the program typically involves only a few additions to a student's plan of study.

Requirements
18 Credits meeting the following requirements:
At least one approved course from each of the following departmental offerings that relate to the Catholic intellectual tradition.
- Theology
- Philosophy
